INTRODUCTION

1
2 Plaintiff, ERIK MISHIYEV, (hereinafter “Plaintiff”) alleges:

3 1. Plaintiff was at all times herein mentioned, originally a resident of the State of New 4 York. Plaintiff goes by the name DJ Short-E, and operates Hot4ever LLC, established February 10, 5 2010, in what is now his residential location of Tampa, Florida.

6
7 2. On information and belief, Defendant YOUTUBE ENTERTAINMENT STUDIOS
8 INC., is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business in San Bruno, California.

9 3. Plaintiff is ignorant of the true names and capacities of Defendants sued herein as DOES 10 1-10, inclusive. Plaintiff therefore sues these Defendants by such fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend 11 this complaint to allege their true names and capacities when ascertained. Plaintiff is informed and 12 believes, and thereon alleges, that each of the fictitiously named Defendants is in some manner 13 responsible for the injuries and damage sustained by Plaintiff, as alleged herein.
14

15 4. At all times mentioned, each Defendant, including, but not limited to Defendants DOES 1 16 through 10, inclusive, and each of them, were, and each was, an agent, associate and/or employee, acting 17 with the permission, consent and/or in the aid or assistance of one or more of the other above-named 18 Defendants and each of them at all times herein mentioned, was acting within the course and scope of 19 his/her/their agency and/or employment of said Defendants.
20

21 5. Furthermore, because of the agency, employment and/or joint venture relationship 22 between Defendants, each Defendant had actual and/or constructive knowledge of the acts of each of the 23 other Cross-Defendants. Each Defendant ratified, approved, joined in, acquiesced and/or authorized the 24 wrongful acts of co-Defendants, and each of them, as set forth below, and/or retained the benefits of said 25 wrongful acts.
26

1 around the world, Plaintiff managed to accumulate over 110 million views, earning him $310,000.00
2 over approximately a five (5) year time period. See Exhibit A, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff's 3 earnings from YOUTUBE over the last five years and channel growth.

4 12. On or about 2007, Plaintiff entered into a written agreement with YOUTUBE, through its 5 representative Matthew Villacarte, to begin the monetization of his videos and channels through use of a 6 monetized AdSense publisher account, to which the following videos were designated as monetized
7 (meaning that Plaintiff could begin earning income based on the amount of views each individual video 8 received): <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=K5y-8-bU8p8>;
9 http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=LXlc_6XA1VE;
10 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kDJZZCXQPR0>;
11 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=1nBmVV6U6DY>;
12 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dSKxm6Bk8FI>; <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=onlRQn0zCW8>;
13 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UGgngkA2vHw>; <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=z5bxmI59DV4>;
14 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9Lb01gKxTzQ>; <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ngLzAoSfdP4>;
15 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aFFCvWcK6Yw>; http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zsl_d_EuRFE;
16 <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZCU2h3drj08>

17 13. The written agreement was YOUTUBE's terms and conditions which were in writing, 18 which YOUTUBE stated governed the terms of the Plaintiff's use of YOUTUBE. See Exhibit B, a true 19 and correct copy of YOUTUBE's terms and conditions that were in place and that were applicable to the 20 parties agreement during the period of times articulated in this complaint (the "Agreement").

21 14. Although Plaintiff does earn and has earned supplemental income through the booking of DJ 22 events, Plaintiff's main source of income since on or about 2012, has been his earnings generated from 23 the monetization of his YOUTUBE videos and channels through use of his AdSense publisher account.

24 15. On or about March 11, 2016, Plaintiff began receiving copyright claims on his highest 25 advertisement revenue videos, which if unresponded to would leave a strike on Plaintiff's channel, with 26 three strikes resulting in the discontinuance of Plaintiff's channel. Plaintiff ended up responding by

1 following proper procedure and filing a ‘counter-notification’ challenging the claims, and ended up 2 winning all claims asserted against him, which resulted in all of his targeted channels and videos being 3 re-instated for monetization. See Exhibit C, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff’s counter notification 4 wins.

5 16. All parties, and most content creators on YOUTUBE, understand that it is customary for 6 false and erroneous copyright claims to made by other users, in order to intercept advertisement revenue 7 and/or to have legitimate content removed in an effort to stifle competition. In order to combat such 8 customary practices, YOUTUBE has a requirement that the claimant either provide proof of a lawsuit
9 for infringement or the alleged offending video will be re-instated, and strike(s) removed. These rules 10 and laws are in place to vet legitimate claims from meritless claims, as well as to thwart abuse of the 11 Digital Millennium Copyright Act (“DMCA”). See Exhibit B, a true and correct copy of YOUTUBE’s 12 terms and conditions (the “Agreement”).

13 17. On or about the start of 2017, YOUTUBE congratulated Plaintiff for his success on their 14 website and granted him a “Silver Creator Award,” for his accolade of reaching 100,000 subscribers.
15 See Exhibit D, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff receiving a Silver Creator Award.

16 18. Thereafter, although Plaintiff’s channels and videos were re-instated and his 17 subscribers were continuing to increase at a rate of about 4,000 a month, his views on each video posted 18 remained low when compared to smaller similar channels. Plaintiff was concerned about this suspicious 19 activity and sought confirmation numerous times from YOUTUBE that they were truly distributing his 20 new videos to his fans and subscribers, but YOUTUBE failed to provide such confirmation, stating 21 “They could not share this information” with him. See Exhibit E, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff’s 22 communications with YouTube customer service through their messaging chat.

23 19. As indicated above, when a person establishes a YOUTUBE channel, YOUTUBE has 24 each person agree to YOUTUBE’S terms and conditions, which are in writing. See Exhibit B, a true and 25 correct copy of YOUTUBE’s terms and conditions (the “Agreement”). YOUTUBE breached Section 26 6(F) of the Agreement when it failed to resolve its continual technical difficulties and distribute

1 Plaintiff's new content. See Exhibit F, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff's communications with 2 YouTube users indicating that Plaintiff's newly uploaded videos were not being distributed. YOUTUBE 3 breached Section 6(F) when it failed to process "audiovisual content uploaded by [Plaintiff] in 4 accordance with the YOUTUBE's Data Processing Terms. Particularly, YOUTUBE's continual 5 technical difficulties were the result of a breach in Google's security which lead to the accidental or 6 unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorized disclosure of, or access to, Customer's Personal Data 7 on systems managed by or otherwise controlled by Google.

8 20. As a direct result of YOUTUBE's breach of the Agreement, although Plaintiff was 9 growing subscribers at a rate of about 4,000 per month, when he uploaded a new video, he would only 10 receive a few hundred views directly causing a reduction in his revenue in the amount of $125,000.00 in 11 losses over a three (3) year period.

12 21. Thereafter, due to YOUTUBE's ongoing breaches and negligence in handling 13 Plaintiff's technical issues, Plaintiff lost trust with YOUTUBE's support team and placed them on notice 14 several times via chat messages and emails, that he would be filing a lawsuit against YOUTUBE if such 15 conduct persisted. See Exhibit G, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff's email communications with 16 YouTube customer service.

17 22. On December 14, 2018, YOUTUBE sent Plaintiff a notice that they were terminating his 18 accounts and removing all his videos due to his litigation threat, though he had not violated any rules or 19 terms of use nor the Community Guidelines. See Exhibit H, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff's email 20 communications with YouTube customer service.

21 23. On December 15, 2018 through January 15, 2019, Plaintiff was abruptly bombarded with 22 copyright claims like he never had been before the entire time he had been managing and growing his 23 channels. See Exhibit I, a true and correct copy of Plaintiff's email inbox associated with his YouTube 24 account.

25 24. Then on or about January 22, 2018, acting upon a takedown notice delivered by claimants
26 to YOUTUBE, pursuant to the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA), 17 U.S.C. § 512(c),

1 YOUTUBE blocked all public access to Plaintiff's videos. YOUTUBE substituted the videos with a 2 notice stating that "This video is no longer available due to a copyright claim." See Exhibit J, a true and 3 correct copy of Plaintiff's screen shot of YOUTUBE's notice.

4 25. Once Plaintiff's videos were removed, he received strikes on his account. Although 5 YOUTUBE stated they removed his channels and videos for copyright claims, the removals appeared to 6 Plaintiff to be in retaliation for his placing them on notice that he would be filing a lawsuit. Such 7 removals violated Section 8(b) of YOUTUBE's Agreement, which states, inter alia, "[u]nless the 8 copyright claim owner files an action seeking a court order against the Content provider, member or 9 user, the removed Content may be replaced, or access to it restored, in 10 to 14 business days or more 10 after receipt of the counter-notice, at Youtube's sole discretion." See Exhibit K, a true and correct copy 11 of communications between Plaintiff and YOUTUBE's Google Support team.

12 26. YOUTUBE's Agreement requires that any claimants who make copyright claims 13 demonstrate that they have filed a copyright infringement lawsuit. Should the claimant fail to provide 14 proof within fourteen (14) days from a 'counter notification', the offending video shall be re-loaded and 15 the strike removed. See Exhibit L, a true and correct copy of YOUTUBE's terms and conditions (the 16 "Agreement").

17 27. Plaintiff complied with YOUTUBE's terms and conditions of use and submitted counter 18 notifications on the following dates: Wednesday, January 23, 2019; Thursday January 24, 2019;
19 Thursday, February 7, 2019; Friday February 8, 2019; and Friday February 22, 2019. See Exhibit M, 20 true and correct copies of the notifications submitted by Plaintiff.

21 28. Although Plaintiff had been compliant with YOUTUBE's Agreement for counter 22 notifications and had previously succeeded in challenging all prior claims with no litigation ever 23 initiated against him, YOUTUBE failed to process Plaintiff's counter notifications, at first stating that 24 such counter notifications were "ineligible," without providing a description of why Plaintiff's videos 25 were "ineligible." See Exhibit N, a true and correct copy of email communications between Plaintiff and 26 YOUTUBE.

1 29. After further inquiry by Plaintiff as to the root cause of Plaintiff’s ineligibility to exercise
2 his procedural rights to process counter notifications, YOUTUBE personnel retracted their statement 3 that such videos were ineligible and instead stated that the videos counter notifications would be 4 processed through, to which they never were processed through. See Exhibit O, a true and correct copy 5 of email communications between Plaintiff and YOUTUBE.

6 30. YOUTUBE also failed to comply with the Agreement, which states, inter alia, that 7 “...each strike expires in 90 days from the time it is issued.” Ninety (90) plus business days have passed 8 and YOUTUBE should have organically removed Plaintiff’s strikes and re-instated his videos and 9 channels according to YOUTUBE's ‘Community Guidelines strike basics.’ See Exhibit P, a true and 10 correct copy of YOUTUBE’s Community Guidelines strike basics.

11 31. To date, Plaintiff’s strikes have not been removed, his counter claims have 12 not been processed, and his videos and channels have been permanently removed, though no 13 claimants presented evidence that they filed any lawsuits. Thus, evidencing that YOUTUBE did not 14 simply remove his content because of copyright claims, but instead in retaliation for placing them on 15 notice that he was filing a lawsuit against them.

16 32. YOUTUBE breached their Agreement by removing public access to Plaintiff’s videos, 17 failing to re-instate all of Plaintiff’s Videos, failing to remove all strikes from his channels, and failing to 18 re-establish all of his channels.

19 33. Plaintiff’s YOUTUBE channels at issue herein were advertised with the AdSense 20 publisher, which had an id# associated with the channels, such advertisements were aired during his 21 pre-recorded tv shows in multiple cities. The AdSense id# is how Plaintiff’s monetization account is 22 identified (AdSense pub-10424255688085310), and this is no longer available as a result of his 23 channels being removed consequently preventing him from receiving any AdSense revenue.

24 34. Since January 2019, Plaintiff has not earned any money from YOUTUBE. The delay of 25 resolution that was allowed to proceed past the 14-day time limit caused him to suffer loss of earnings of 26 $90,000 from January 2019 to July 2019. The prolonged dead video links resulted in loss of new

1 subscribers, views, future hits, performance bookings, and lost advertising and sponsorship revenue, all 2 of which has caused irreparable harm. YOUTUBE's breach has directly caused Plaintiff to suffer over 3 $720,000 in damages for loss of earnings and lost future earnings. Defendants' breach is directly causing 4 Plaintiff to compete with a disadvantage because YOUTUBE has restricted him from creating any new 5 YOUTUBE channels.

6
